

FOX in SOCKS

Language Arts: Alliteration

Alliteration is the repetition of a sound at the beginning of two or more neighboring words (as in wild and woolly or a babbling brook). Can your student find examples of alliteration in this book? (I hope so! There are a ton!) When you have an excessive amount of alliteration, you have a tongue twister. Encourage your older student to write some tongue twisters just for fun! Try reading them over and over as quick as you can.

Life Skill: Matching Socks

Teach your child how to match and fold socks.

Language Arts: Word Match

Cut out the socks. Have your student match the words to the pictures.

Language Arts: Go-along Book

Read another tongue-twisting tale by Dr. Seuss, Oh Say Can You Say

Life Skill: Sewing

Like Sue, sew socks (make a puppet)|

MY TONGUE TWISTER

A writing template for a tongue twister. It features a large red rectangular border. Inside this border, there are ten horizontal lines for writing. The background between the red border and the writing lines is decorated with alternating light blue and white horizontal stripes.

